7	Founders' Day	The day after Rhodes' Day	1895–1979	One of the original Rhodesian holidays designated by The Bills of Exchange Regulations, 1895. Commemorated founders of the country other than Rhodes; deliberately placed directly following Rhodes' Day to create what became commonly known as the annual four-day "Rhodes' and Founders' weekend".
8	Pioneers' Day	12 September	1920–1979	Created as Occupation Day by the Bank Holiday Amendment Ordinance, 1920, in place of Shangani Day. Renamed Pioneers' Day by the Bills of Exchange Amendment, 1961. Commemorated the anniversary of the arrival of the Pioneer Column at the site of Fort Salisbury in 1890, and their raising of the Union Jack on Salisbury Kopje, thereby marking the foundation of the city and, by extension, the country.
9	Republic Day	Second-to-last Monday in October	1970–1979	Commemorated the declaration of a republic on 2 March 1970. The government initially considered holding Republic Day on 11 November in place of Independence Day, but eventually settled on the second-to-last Monday in October. The date deliberately coincided with that month's mid-term school weekend (during which boarders returned home) as it had previously been the only one not extended by a public holiday.
10	Independence Day	11 November	1966–1979	Commemorated the anniversary of the Unilateral Declaration of Independence in 1965. Coincided with Armistice Day, the anniversary of the 1918 Armistice with Germany at the end of the First World War, which had been marked since 1919, but not as a public holiday.
11	Shangani Day	4 December	1895–1920	One of the original Rhodesian holidays designated by The Bills of Exchange Regulations, 1895. Replaced as a public holiday with Occupation Day (later Pioneers' Day) in the Bank Holiday Amendment Ordinance, 1920, but still unofficially marked thereafter. Commemorated the anniversary of Major Allan Wilson's death at the head of the Shangani Patrol in 1893.
